Games of skill are legal, as they are excluded from the ambit of Indian gambling legislations including, the Public Gambling Act of 1867. The Indian Supreme Court in the cases of State of Andhra Pradesh v. K Satyanarayana (AIR 1968 SC 825) and KR Lakshmanan v. State of Tamil Nadu (AIR 1996 SC 1153) has held that a game in which success depends predominantly upon the superior knowledge, training, attention, experience and adroitness of the player shall be classified as a game of skill.

Ludo is a game where lot of concentration, planning, strategy to understand opponent's planning is required to win a game.

A player with good experience & understanding of ludo skills with best of strategy building skills along with excellent presence of mind can dominate.
